

Dr. Kuntal Bhattacharyya is an Associate Professor of Supply Chain Management at Indiana State University's Scott College of Business. Dr. Bhattacharyya enriches his current association in academe with many years of corporate experience in strategic sourcing, supply chain management, financial economics, and consulting. Kuntal holds a Ph.D. in Operations Management from Kent State University and an M.B.A. in Management from the University of Akron. In addition, he is also a certified risk manager (CRM). Dr. Bhattacharyya recently served as Executive Director of Graduate Programs where he streamlined curriculum, coursework, and student experience while leading the successful implementation of an online MBA program. Previously, Dr. B has also served as Chairperson of the Marketing & Operations Dept. at the Scott College of Business. In his current dual role as an Associate Professor in Supply Chain Management and Project Director of the new Logistics 4.0 Innovation Hub @ Plainfield, he strives to bridge the gap between academia and the industry by providing an experiential learning experience to future business leaders, while contributing towards academic literature - especially from a practitioner's viewpoint. Kuntal's research has been published in esteemed outlets like the Journal of Supply Chain Management, Supply Chain Management Review, Strategic Outsourcing, Journal of Humanitarian Logistics and Supply Chain Management, and Advanced Mathematical Modelling, among others. Dr. Bhattacharyya resides in Terre Haute, Indiana with his family.